

Jim Fowler
The Troubadour of Possibility

I am a singer/songwriter living in San Jose, California. I earned a B.A. in Music in 1976 and I am a member of West Coast Songwriters Association.

I have received awards for performance and composition and my songs have had airtime on local radio stations as well as NPR.

My contribution to life is capturing the essence of a person's life so that others may know that person through a song.

I stand for self expression and I say that everyone has his or her very own song, as unique as their fingerprints.

I invite you to join my poster session to explore and discover YourSong.
