

My Contribution to a World Transformed: Self-Assessment Tool

Name: _____

Date of Self-Assessment: _____

I'm Committed to Transformation

Elements of a Contribution for the World	Some questions to ask myself...
A. I am committed to global transformation , to a world transformed.	What am I up to? What am I moved by? What is it that I cannot not do?
B. My commitment is languaged to be understandable in all languages to a high-school level reader.	Do I talk to people right where they are? Am I present?

I've Got a Game Plan

Elements of a Contribution for the World	Some questions to ask myself...
C. I have identified the measures and projections of the present state of humanity with respect to my contribution. The measures have reputable sources existing in the public domain.	Can I measure something about what is being accomplished? Do I just "feel" whether it's working?
D. I have chosen a date for the fulfillment of my contribution that is sooner than is currently predicted or thought possible (with respect to the projections identified in C, above).	Is this something that is happening anyway? Am I engaged in causing something on a totally unreasonable timeline?
E. I have identified milestones of accomplishment that will alter the projected course of the world (with respect to the measures and projections identified in C, above).	Do I have an actual plan of steps and milestones for the fulfillment of my contribution? Is it a vague "I'll know it when I see it" kind of plan?

My People Are Engaged!

Elements of a Contribution for the World	Some questions to ask myself...
F. I have an originating circle that includes the people, organizations, and institutions with sufficient stature to ensure the participation of all of the world's people needed for the fulfillment of the contribution.	Am I doing this on my own, or with my little circle of family, friends, and colleagues? Do I have a strong network of all the right players to really create and sustain a new possibility in the world?
G. I have designed a series of opportunities for the people in my network and the people of the world to register and participate in creating and sustaining a new possibility for being.	Am I giving people opportunities to participate in causing something? Am I trying to make a difference for them?
H. I have held one or more launching opportunities that publicly commit my reputation and resources.	Have I committed myself and my reputation and resources completely to the fulfillment of this promise?

I'm Strategic

Elements of a Contribution for the World	Some questions to ask myself...
I. I have strategies to ensure that my game plan for fulfillment is viable .	Am I earning my living by working as part of a network that is generating the relationships and resources for fulfillment?
J. I have strategies to ensure that the new possibility is endorsable by knowledgeable people (including the people identified in F, above).	Do I have strategies for getting endorsements? Am I getting the world's key players – the people who are instrumental in the fulfillment of this contribution – on board with it?
K. I have strategies for enrolling people into the new possibility (including the people identified in F and J, above).	Am I practicing enrolling people into a possibility? Am I being enrolling?
L. I have strategies for engaging people in the series of opportunities to register and participate in creating and sustaining the new possibility and opportunities (including the people identified in F and J, above, and the series of opportunities designed in G, above).	Do I have strategies for registering people into action? Am I taking actions as I see them and offering whatever I have available at the moment?

I've Got Extras

Elements of a Contribution for the World	Some questions to ask myself...
M. Other	What else distinguishes my promise and brings integrity, power, and passion to my authentic and real contribution to global transformation?	