Pieces of Wisdom

We asked what people got from the Seven Stages of a Conversation in the Wisdom Course – Here are some replies:

For the first time at the Conference for Global Transformation, Wisdom Graduates will have the opportunity to display in Artists for Global Transformation – Art Exhibition 2020. In the early days of standing for this, my internal monologue was at full volume. Self-doubt and inaction had me frozen with fear of not getting it right. Using the distinctions of the Wisdom Program I was able to see actions that were available to take. My favourite distinction was the “Seven Stages of a Project” which would presence me to what stage the project was at, all the while building Membership and Media.

I’m clear that without the growth and development caused within my assisting agreement this initiative would not have been delivered. I see that ongoing growth and development is the pathway to creating the life I want. –Gary Bryson, Queensland, AU

I launched a business this past year and I’ve been struggling. Then, during weekend four, in the seven stages conversation, I discovered that the project is in stage three: strengthen and build support. The mood for that stage is scarcity. It’s freeing to see that the nature of it is appropriate and all is well. What there is to do is get in action and stay in action. I can do that. I’m empowered. And – miraculously, the biggest contract I’ve ever had just came to me. Look at that. I got the distinction and did what was there to do. The Wisdom Course is at work in my life and it’s working. –Cynthia Cooper, Phoenix AZ
