

Wisdom Community Newsletter - Issue V

Pieces of Wisdom

We asked what people got from participating in online courses and programs in 2020. Here are some replies:

I attended the Conference for the first time and submitted a poster. I had over 900 views of my online poster and I don't think I would have reached that many people face to face. I have a vision for humanity and the Conference gave me a larger picture of what's possible. ~Larry Adams, Nevada (Conference for Global Transformation)

The online environment seemed very personal with Jerry [Fishman] and those sharing right there in front of me on the screen. Breakout groups allowed interesting and generative conversations and allowed me to interact with fellow course members from around the world. ~Tom Robertson, New Zealand (A Life That Sings)

I expanded from not knowing whether my being present had any impact or not to discovering that others could experience being gotten, even through the medium of the computer. ~Regina Chien, Texas (Consulting Practices Workshop)

I created my experience the way I wanted and inside of that, I created my own world of comfort. I also created flexibility in my participation while still working and my experience was fully getting the course. ~Lisa Pulliam, California (Year-end Vacation)
